Stainless Games and Green Man Gaming to Launch New IP This Spring

Veteran Developer partners with top UK Publisher on new arena combat title

London, UK 6 March 2019 - Award winning studio Stainless Games and Green Man Gaming Publishing today announced their partnership to bring a brand new IP to market on Steam PC from Spring 2019.

The as yet unannounced title will deliver an all new take on the vehicle based action and mayhem on which Stainless Games has built its reputation over the 25 year studio history.

“With over 30 games to our credit and 25 years in the business, Stainless knows a thing or two about picking a publisher, and that’s why we know we’ve got the perfect partner in Green Man Gaming to bring our new IP to market,” said Patrick Buckland, Chairman & Co-founder of Stainless Games. “We can’t wait to unveil the new project; it really gets back to the DNA of the studio and is very much a Stainless game - action packed, exciting and sure to blow people away”.

David Clark, Managing Director at Green Man Gaming Publishing, added “Since the beginning, Green Man Gaming Publishing’s aim has always been to work with the best and brightest developers around whether they are innovative smaller teams new to the industry or long time, industry stalwarts. With Stainless Games we have the perfect combination of the two - a studio with 25 years heritage who are still at the leading edge of games design and programming. I first had the pleasure of working with the Stainless team back in 1998 on the launch of Carmageddon II; Carpocalypse Now, so I couldn’t be more thrilled to partner with them again on the launch of their next big project. This partnership represents the first step in an incredibly aggressive year that will see us publishing highly ambitious games across multiple platforms”.

More information about the new game IP will be revealed over the coming weeks - we have some really exciting news in the works.
